The Raleigh Light Infantry—Their Parade and Inspection.

Pursuant to orders, the Raleigh Light Infantry, Capt. Francis L. Brown, commanding, marched at the armory at 4 yesterday afternoon, in review formation and some tactical evolutions, the company filed out on the street, and marched to the capitol Square. Here the command was divided into two companies of 16 files front; the first under command of Lieutenant Donald W. Bain, the second commanded by Lieutenant R. F. Clark. Lieut. James Powers acted as Adjutant. After an interval the assembly was beaten, when the two Commands marched to a position at the South entrance of the Capitol. The dress parade was then held.

At the conclusion Brigadier General Johnstone Jones, Adjutant General of the State, accompanied by Capt. J. W. Thompson, President, Junior class, his Aides, appeared. The command then wheeled to the right by company. A more rigid and more thorough inspection was then made by the Adjutant General in person. He took occasion to inspect the command a marked compliment to the appearance and conduct of the men who were the pride of their arms. The inspection was conducted by the march past in column in review. This concluded, the company marched down Fayetteville Street, where they executed movements in an admirable manner, and then returned to their armor. They for ranks were broken three rounds of cheers and a tiger was given the Adjutant General. The march was a success. The members of the Capitol were much pleased by the inspection, for our young ladies turned out in force to grace the occasion with their presence. The R. L. I. is one of the "institutions" of our city, and is a source of pride and interest to us all.

An Unjust Verdict.

If one of the many "put up" medical men in this city is to be believed, he is destined as nostrums. Is it right? Are all American citizens denominated as traitors because Benedict Arnold committed treason? Some refuse to use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, simply because they have used others without benefit. Dr. Pierce's preparations possess actual merit, and it takes when properly used, to realize its efficacy.
